INCOME TAX FACTS NO. 5.

Former soldiers and sailors, in filing an income tax return for 1921, should not include as gross income any amount received under the provisions of the war risk insurance and vocational rehabilitation acts and as pensions from the United States for military or naval service during the war.

The special exemption of $3,500 formerly allowed soldiers and sailors in active service is not continued by the revenue act of 1921. "Persons in active military or naval service of the United States" are allowed only the exemptions granted other individuals, $1,000 if single (or if married and not living with husband or wife); $2,500 if married and the combined net income of husband and wife was $5,000 or less; and $2,000 if married and the combined net income of husband and wife was more than $5,000.

An unmarried soldier, sailor, marine or ex-service man must file a return if his net income from all sources for 1921 was $1,000 or more, or if his gross income was $5,000 or more. If married and living with his wife on December 31, 1921, he must file a return if the net income of himself and wife

NOTICE, REPUBLICANS

This is your newspaper in any way you have legitimate need to use its news columns. If any of you visit, get married, any little ones born, if you get sick, any of you die, have a fight, or pull off any political or social stunts you would like the world to know about, tell us. We want the news.

Never mind our editorials. They are all on a separate page. There is no law in the world to make you read them or agree with them if you do read them. It may interest you to read them to see how ignorant we are—in your estimation, and if you are charitably inclined you may enlighten us if you care to. We want you to know that our columns are open to all.

We have many Republican readers and patrons. We want more. We want you to regard the news and job end of our business the same as you would a regular mercantile establishment, in which you forget politics and go for service. That is exactly the status of the business and news end of this paper—it is absolutely non-political.

But its editorial management thoroughly believes in the principles of Democracy as being for the best interest of our country and, therefore, to pretend otherwise would be to sail under false colors. And, for our part, we have more respect for an open, outspoken Republican than for a mugwump.

Visit us. Tell us the news. You will get the very best service and the most courteous treatment we can possibly give.

Thank you.

MUSCLE SHOALS

For the benefit of our readers who say they cannot find Muscle Shoals on their maps, will state that its location is in Lauderdale county, Alabama, between Florence and Decatur, extending about 20 miles along the Tennessee river in a series of rapids. The Louisville & Nashville and Southern railroads are close to it.

The Government has not yet closed the pending deal with Henry Ford, but will undoubtedly do so. Upon this prospect hundreds have already flocked there, to be followed by yet others. Property is high, and it is our opinion the man with small means will find it a hard place to succeed. As is the case with all such boom places, grafters will flock there by the hundreds to make their living by relieving newcomers of their bank roll. For that purpose there will be devised all sorts of schemes.

HADLEY SAYS G. O. P. MAY LOSE CONGRESS

Former Governor of Missouri Points to Reaction Among Farmers in West.

New York.—There is a good possibility that in the next congressional election the Republican majority in Congress may be overturned because of dissatisfaction among Western farmers, said Herbert S. Hadley, former governor of Missouri, who is visiting New York for the first time since 1915. In an interview at the City Club, where he is stopping as the guest of a relative, Wallace Thompson, says a dispatch recently published in the Globe-Democrat.

Governor Hadley's interests now are educational rather than political, but he has kept in touch with political conditions in the West, and thinks that they have in them the elements of an agrarian movement similar to the Populist movement of 1892. Since his residence in Colorado he has been lecturing in the law school of the University of Colorado and moving about the country talking with the grain and cattle raisers.

The dissatisfaction among farmers is great, he said, due partly to the low prices they have received for their products and partly to the losses they have had as the result of poor investments.

"There seems to me a very good possibility that a third party will be formed, unless conditions improve materially," said Gov. Hadley. "I also feel that there is a definite possibility that the Republican majority in Congress may be overturned."

EMPRESS THEATRE MAKES IMPROVEMENTS

The Empress Theatre under the management of Wilbur Stewart, has been undergoing quite a bit of improvement. A new stage has been erected, painting the interior and rearranging for the convenience of the patrons.

Mr. Stewart has also secured additional services of musicians, now using a very good four-piece orchestra, which is a decided improvement. A large electric light has been erected at the entrance of the theatre, which makes it the lightest spot in town.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF MISSOURI, County of Pemisot—ss. In the Circuit Court, March Term, 1922.

J. G. HUGHES, State Finance Commissioner, in charge of the FARMERS & MERCHANTS BANK, Plaintiff, vs. R. B. COOKSEY and MINNIE COOKSEY, Defendants.

Now at this day comes the plaintiff herein by attorneys, Shepard & Hawkins, and files his petition and affidavit, alleging among other things, that defendants, R. B. Cooksey and Minnie Cooksey, are not residents of the State of Missouri, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them within this state.

Whereupon, it is ordered by the Clerk in vacation that said defendants be notified by publication that plaintiff has commenced a suit against them in this Court, the object and general nature of which is to foreclose a certain mortgage deed made, executed and delivered by defendants on December 5th, 1919, to the Cotton Exchange Bank conveying to said bank all of lots number 9, 10 and 11, in block 1, of Burton's Addition to the Town of Steele, Missouri, as the same appears upon the recorded plat of said addition filed in the recorder's office of Pemisot county, Missouri, to secure a note in the sum of $1500.00 dated December 5, 1919, due November 1, 1920, with interest from maturity at the rate of 8 per cent per annum.

And that unless the said R. B. Cooksey and Minnie Cooksey be and appear at this Court, at the next term thereof, to be begun and holden at the court house in the City of Caruthersville, in said County, on the 20th day of March next, and on or before the first day of said term, unless further time be granted by the Court, answer or demur to the petition in said cause, the same will be taken as confessed and judgment will be rendered accordingly.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published in The Hayti Herald, a newspaper published in said County of Pemisot, for four weeks successively, published at least once a week, the last insertion to be at least fifteen days before the first day of said next March term of this Court.

ERNEST A. LONG, Circuit Clerk.
By JOSEPHINE HAWKINS, Deputy.

A True Copy From The Record.

Witness my hand, and seal of the Circuit Court of Pemisot county, this 8th day of February, 1922.

"THAT'S JONES AD"

GLANCE over this newspaper. If the advertisements had no names signed to them, could you tell, offhand, whose was whose?

THERE should be something in the looks of your ad that makes people recognize it as yours before they've read a line.

TO GET this effect is really simple as A, B, C. Ask your publisher. He knows and will show you how to obtain a distinct "family resemblance" in all your ads, without making them look monotonously alike.

FOR INSTANCE: Simply by the way this ad is "set up," you recognize it is one of a series you're interested in.

LET YOUR publisher help you get up a distinctive "layout."
